Dear [REDACTED]

SELF-PORTRAIT OF SOMEONE ELSE by Vincent Eaton

We do agree that this is an unusual and impressive first novel. Vincent Eaton has more imagination on each page of his writing than many an author has in a whole book.

Absorbing and challenging this book certainly is and there is no doubt that psychological drama has appeal. We do feel, however, that this novel is just too freaky to have other than a modest appeal. For our first list we feel that that appeal is just overly modest.

Many thanks for thinking of us, [REDACTED] and we look forward to finding a project over which we can mutually enthuse.

All best wishes

Marjory
